Organization of Episcopalian and M. E. Churches Similar, Thought Teddy

Bureau of Publication and Education) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—"I should not like to be quoted, especially after my ap-peal for religious tolerance, but the Catholic church is in no way suited to this country and can never have any great permanent growth except through immigration, for its thought is La tin and entirely at variance with the dominant thought of our country and institutions."

The above quotation is an utterance of former President Theodore Roosevelt, made at the time he was president, and has been dug up out of private letters written by Roose-velt's military aide, Archie Butt, to his sister-in-law. Archie Butt went down on the Titanic, and Roosevelt is likewise dead, and at this time these letters of Butt's have been copyrighted by Doubleday, Page & Co., and are being sent out and are being republished in many of the big daily papers of the country.

Talks With President

This particular article from which the above quotation is taken, was written by Archie Butt, under date of January 20, 1909, and Butt was telling his sister-in-law of the personal side of the president. Butt had just come back from accompanying A correspondent of this bureau President Roosevelt to a big methosends in a lot of clippings taken dist meeting in the Metropolitan church here in Washington. As Butt were driving home Butt quotes Roosevelt as talking to him as fol

> "I would rather address a Metho dist audience than any other audience in America. You know for one thing, that every one there is an American. You do not have to think about placating this element or that element, for the Methodists are Americans, and all you have got to do is to hammer facts into them.

Liked Episcopalians

"Next to the Methodists I prefer to address Episcopalians. They are all Americans likewise, usually representing the higher or else the lower social class. The Methodists represent the great middle class and churches in this country. They appeal to the genius of our institutions more than any other denominations. The growth of the Episcopal church in the cities is marvelous. I think the organization of the two churches is very similar, and, after all, or-ganization tells in the long run." And right there in Roosevelt's talk where he said what he did about the Catholic church as quoted above.

Beginning his sermon Dr. Krass pointed out that the question of intermarriage was almost as old as humanity and that among the very ancient peoples laws against marrying out of the tribe or other ethnic division were current.

"But strange as it may seem, these prohibitions were not due to racial reasons," he said. "The chief reason for putting an embargo on intermar-riages was religious Among the ancient Jews, according to the Biblical record, we find prohibition against intermarriage, particularly with sevname. It is not so natural for American citizens who have become real Americans to cling to racial kinship. These should learn to think of America first, but foreign language newspapers keep them in line for many generations thinking first of all of the countries whence they came. Continuing its attack, the Kuryer Polski declares:

"Assuming that a decrease of immigration is necessary (which we do not believe) adoption of the 1890 census as a basis is obviously unjust, unfair, and discriminatory, and its enactment will be an insult to all but two of the nationalities affected by the proposed bill. If immigration must be restricted, let it be done on a basis of equality to all and favoritism to none, and any bill conceived in this spirit will undoubtedly meet with widespread support and approbation." The Kuryer Polski already has established that it considers the Johnson immigration bill unjust, unfair. discriminatory and insulting from two standpoints, the one on account of the views of the naturalized Americans of various nationalities, and the other because of nationalities wholly foreign to this country, peoples who now live in other lands. One might ask the Kuryer Polski if it believes the national policy in this country should be dictated by those elements recently brought from other lands instead of by the older generations of Americans, who have, by vir-tue of education, training and inheritance, sensed more profoundly the ideals of liberty and progress Mean-while, as far as the other standpoint is concerned, the United States does not owe a single obligation to any country on earth in the matter of absorbing its surplus population. thing for Americans to remember and it is a thing the foreign language newspaper in this country has immigration policy and in enacting a permanent immigration law is the nation's duty to itself. And even at the risk of being regarded as dis-criminatory, unfair and unjust to-ward other nationalities, the United States should adopt a policy that would give it the greatest measure of protection. America's right to pick and choose immigrants need not be confined to the fit individuals of a given race but may be extended to the fittest of the races.

Destroy the sanctity comers in America seems to be the chief aim and purpose of the fore-ign language newspapers published are attempting to do now, the doors here, and nothing else, perhaps, is of the churches will soon be closed; as great a hindrance to their assimilation. The Kuryer Polski refers to Sabbath day is it is today, some pasthese people as Americans, but tells them they should demand a greater consideration on the part of this country for the nationalties from which they have came. It is obvious that such an attitude creates too

"The church or other Christian organizations, which are allowing themselves to be assimilated by the worldly amusement clubs which do a large financial business on the Sabbath day had better close their church doors than to allow Satan to use them for his headquarters. The idea that God will accept of hilarious worldly ement on a Sabbath day in lieu of religious worship, is a preposter-ous subterfuge that will not stand in the judgment of the bar of God.
"When God said 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy,' and decreed that we should do no manner of work on that day, it is unthink-able that He would uphold any asemblage of persons to engage in any hilarious, noisy demonstration, where gambling, cursing and drinking is indulged in to excess often resulting in fistic encounters; and where hundreds of dollars are collected at the gates. Our courts and court officers may pass it on, and allow such assemblages to function in violation of our statute laws, but God will not hold them guiltless.

"Then another source of destruction to the Christian church which i insidious in its work, is this prop ganda being sent broadcast by the infidel class, and emanating from some of our theological seminaries, colleges and universities, contradicting the Bible, and making some of our weaker minds believe we are mere animals, and our foreparents be longed to the monkey tribe.

Forsaken Ideals

In his-address in St. Paul, Minnesota, last week. Harry F. Atwood, president of the Constitution Anniversary association of Chicago, sounded a political system fostered by the hierwarning note it would be well for every American to heed.

Here is the keynote of his address, which sounded very much like a Klan

"America today is living in an age of expediency, cowardice and demagogy. The generation now living has been the most faithless to its governmental heritage than any in the history of the nation."

No group realizes this better than the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. In fact, the very condition to which Mr. Atwood points, is the reason for the existence in the United States today of the Klan.

For too long a time, has the nation been drifting down the wrong channels, instead of following the well marked paths of the forefathers. Expe- favored, an dhow the Masons were schools, good laws and sound religdiency, he says, stamps the age. The shortest cut to a given goal, even if covertly the laws, tradition and the constitution are transgressed, seems to be the rule. Demagogy is rampant demagogy in high places. What did the Teatheir attack of the Catholic religion ness the higher truths in organized pot Dome investigation uncover, but the criminal connivance of faithless leaders (?) of the people. Indeed, Mr. Atwood spoke the truth.

Speaking of the constitution, Mr. Atwood calls it "the document that in itself contains a plain answer and solution of virtually all the problems that are vexing our country so sorely today."

There could be no better Klan doctrine, although Mr. Atwood is not a member of the organization.

It is because Klansmen believe that the constitution does contain the so-lution to practically every ill in the United States today, that the motto, at the holy see, the United States will It is because Klansmen believe that the constitution does contain the so-"Back to the constitution," is carried at the masthead of The Fiery Cross edi-

False practices in operating governmental machinery; loose decisions handed down from supreme courts; doubtful stands by federal officials on public questions—can all be traced to the forsaking of the blue-print plans Our nation is our crown today for our national life, laid down in the constitution.

There is a great mission to fulfill. America must not be allowed to drift further from her historical ideals. Mr. Atwood through his organization is doing a geat work to prevent further drifting. The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan have an even larger program, which already has accomplished wonderful results. There can not possibly be any danger in following the trail of the forefathers. To follow that trail is the aim of every Klansman in America. The purpose of the Klan cannot be better put than it was by Mr. Atwood, when he said:

"We must not fail in this present day, to keep the sacred contract with the unborn as the great dead have kept it with us."

Where Are the Churches?

Have the Protestant churches of Des Moines forgotten that Christianity was meant by its Founder to be applied to every-day life?

Seldom has there been a more crying need for the practical application of Christ's teachings to every-day life, than is offered by the political situation confronting Des Moines today.

Up to the present time, only one minister of the gospel, Dr. W. S. Harries, pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian church, has had the courage of his convictions, and has expressed himself on the "city's greatest crisis," as he terms it. His convictions, be it understood, are not only personal, but Christian convictions.

There is no middle ground. The voters of Des Moines are either for law enforcement or for the vicious rule of the underworld, bringing in its wake smashed in Italy and Russia, but a wide-open town. There can be no neutrality, no compromise, in this America still has it to face." election. Either Des Moines will be made a safe and decent place in which to rear a family, or it will sink back into criminal and vice conditions, far more appalling than those which have prevailed for the past two years.

Some of the orthodox cry: "Politics has no place in the church." True! But Christianity has a place in politics. That can best be accomplished by putting in office Christian men. Christianity, and every vestige of ethical conduct, can best be abolished from the administration of public affairs by putting in positions of power the representatives of the underworld, who in shameless mockery are running on trumped-up, but hollow, hypocritical "law and order" platforms.

When the issue is so distinctly drawn as it is in the coming election, there is only one stand for the Protestant churches to take the stand for clean, American municipal life.

It is understood that the members of a large downtown church in Des Moines-about two thousand in number-have promised their support to a candidate who, if elected, will bring to pass a state of affairs far from that desired by the Christian Americans of the city.

Many people have been hoodwinked. They have been misinformed. Lying advertisements and a kept press have done it. In view of these facts, it is up to the Protestant ministers of the city to inform their congregationsto apply Christianity, if you please about the true state of affars. Dr. Harries is the one and only pastor, who has so far carried into execution what he rightly sees as his duty. He has not minced words; he has clearly ized every arm of executive power, defined the issue

If the churches are to be more than mere speculative bodies, meeting once or twice a week for a discussion of ethics and Christian principles, other ministers of Des Moines must follow the trail courageously blazed by Dr.

Billy Sunday, the noted evangelist, once uttered a statement which can aptly be put to the situation in Des Moines: "Praying to God to save the world, while you loaf, is not religion."

Naturalization Machinery

Eleven thousand applications for naturalization in New York, caused the greatest jam in the history of the county court house. It indicates the great desire of aliens for citizenship in this country.

Just how many of these applications, when granted, will produce citizens, and how many will produce mere possessors of naturalization papers cannot be told. But it is evident that making citizens of foreigners whole cord, N. H., first prize in elecution. But there are few such: the immisale cannot be impressive, and that when the legal machinery has to grind grant coming to this country to be an American citizen needs to be imthrough applications in a hurry, no real care and consideration can be given pressed with the value of what he seeks, and we have the responsibility to to each individual case.

The laws governing naturalization are fair enough; they are calculated for naturalization sounds impressive, but it means passing on thirty a day, to impress the seeker after citizenship with the importance of the step and or one every ten minutes, which is too fast for any court to work with prethe responsibilities attendant upon it. But it is not the law but the meth- cision, accuracy, judgment and sanity. ed and manner of its enforcement which makes the appeal; especially is Of what use is a quota law to keep down immigrants, if our naturalizathis so to the foreigner of not very high mental attainments. Education is usually held by educa-tors as a panacea for all world ills

That education which does not edu-cate is as bad as no opportunity and that there is a tendency which should be corrected in curricula of modern high schools to "spread edu-

They were statesmen. They had such men in America in those days. These men met and wrote the constitution of the United States.

"Their work is the only document subdistributing in the history of the world that instantly brought order and government of a situation bordering on anarchy and confusion. Based on the tenets of that great document national credit became an actuality and America was recognized among

Our forefathers were strict believers in a representative form of gov-ernment. Of course they assumed that we, their children, to whom the wonderful heritage of such a government was given, would be careful in choosing our representatives to carry on that government.

Thought Well of Posterity

"They assumed that the people of such a commonwealth as Minnesota would appreciate that heritage. They could not have imagined that a man would be sent to the United States senate from such a commonwealth on his boast that he had never read our "If Garfield, the canal boy, driving

That is what the present generation is substituting for the ideals left them in our constitution.

SHERIFF AND DEPUTY INDICTED FOR MURDER

Alleged Slayers of Klansman Caesar Cagle to Blame for Lawlessness

MARION, ILL., March 22.-Sheriff George Galligan of Williamson county and John Layman, his chief deputy, were indicted in the United States district court at Danville last week for conspiracy to defeat the enforcement of the national prohibition act. These men are ringleaders of the element that murdered Constable Caesar Cagle, Klansman, here some weeks ago, and whose lawlessness furnished the excuse for calling out the national guard.

A citizen of Herrin, describing the indictments and the conditions that led to them, said: "On the night of December 15, 1923, a meeting in a Herrin garage between Galligan and Layman and S. Glenn Young, noted law enforcement officer, working for the Klan, and Harry Steyer of Galconia, one of Young's men, it is charged, that Galligan and Layman accepted $100 each in return for promising to pro-tect a certain place near the slaugh-ter house outside of Marion." The Klansman can exercise the most beneficent influence upon his community by the moral power of his example.

KLAN TO STAMP OUT NARCOTIC TRAFFIC

State Officers to Be Assisted by Members of Chicago Order

CHICAGO, ILL., March 22.-Not content with aiding prohibition enforcement officers in the performance of their duty, members of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan are organizing to expose the dispensers of 'dope" here and throughout the state. The best citizens of each community, members of the organization are being "drafted" to cooperate with state and federal officials in the eradication of all forms of the drug evil. Details of the plan are not to be made public by Klan officials as secrecy is one of the essentials of its success. Klansmen have long realized that 'dope" is the inspiration of much of vice and crime that characterizes the foreign sections of this and other cities. Its use is said to be particularly prevalent among the negroes of the "Near South Side." "Klansmen are not planning the campaign solely to arrest and convict the dispensers of cocaine, mor-phine, heroin, opium, hasheesh and other drugs of a similar nature, but are looking toward a reclamation and reformation program that will en-able the unfortunate addicts to start life anew," declared a spokesman for the organization.

The Klan's investigators are said to have already uncovered evidence of "dope rings" that do business on a large scale in addition to having the "goods" on a number of "ped-dlers" whose traffic is on smaller Scores of arrests are expected to

Loser Will Banquet All Klansmen in Fulton County on Anniversary

ATLANTA, GA., March 22. When he eighth anniversary of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan rolls around. ohn B. Gordon Klan or Nathan Bedford Forrest Klan is going to be the host to the other at a banquet. Just which it will be depends upon the activities of the members thereof between now and May 6, which will mark the end of their race in the membership campaign.

These two Klans are very evenly matched in more ways than one. In the first place, they are both up-town Klans; and in the second place, their membership is about equal. Therefore, the only handicap either of them will have to labor under will be the inactivity of their individual members. However, so far neither of the Klans seems to be impeded by any lack of enthusiasm on the part on the banquet. The Klaliff in this behalf says:

"As far as we are concerned, we will make it a condition of the race that all Fulton county Klansmen be invited to the banquet to feast at he expense of the losers. "The governor ought to remember that in 1919 when the big fires ocd, most of the experienced men of the forest service were in France, that the appropriation was small, was difficult to obtain, and that railroads were under gov-erument control. I had ordered men on the railroad patrol, and about 100 men had been placed on duty. Warn-ings were issued of the danger impending and every reasonable step taken to provide and have others pro-vide stronger fire protection. Except for this action and the systematic, prompt, and even heroic work of the forest rangers, backed up by every means at our disposal, the loss of life and property undoubtedly would have been much greater.

Many Prosecutions

"Prosecutions under the forest daws were as numerous and as drastic as the attitude of the courts would instify. "Statements made by the governor and by Mr. Gearheart and Mr. Douglas with reference to state timber should not go unchallenged. It is well known that the handling of state timber and particularly the sales policy has been such that for a number of years as a member of the timber board, I have refused to sign the estimate sheets or sale permits. Mr. Preus has refused to give me the opportunity to have forest officers check up in the field to see if the timber was of such character as to warrant sale. The timber estimates in the auditor's office are little more than a joke, frequently showing less than 20 per cent, sometimes 10 per cent of the timber of different kinds actually on the land. The deposits made by the companies on their bids are based on these estimates. "When such poor judgment was shown as to the quantity of timber thousands of acres of timber, per-haps half of which was reluctantly held from sale. Later investigations have shown that large quantities, probably more than half of what was actually sold, was thrifty, growing timber and should have been reserved by the state for further growth. Clouding the Issue

"It is understood that Mr. Diercks of the auditor's office, whom the gov-ernor recently made a member of the forestry board, was interested in getting through the legislature the measure which permits three mempers of the timber board to transact ousiness and thus ignore the forest-

or shall we not let partisan policies run forestry? And as to the personnel of the forestry board, shall we permit any man associated with Wisconsin pulp wood interests to be in a position to influence Minnesota's policy in the management of its tim-ber lands?"

Following, in part, is an editorial which appears in the current issue of American Forests and Forest Life published by the American Forestry as-sociation, of which Henry S. FIND COPTIC TEXT OF GOSPEL OF JOHN IN VALLEY OF KINGS AT LUXOR, EGYPT

(Scottish Rite News Bureau) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24.-New light on the sources of the Bible is eagerly sought by critics and commentators the world over. The startling discoveries in the Valley of the Kings have so occupied public attention that some less vivid, but perhaps more important, have escaped general notice. From Glasgow, Scotland, comes the account of the discovery of a Biblical manuscript in Egypt which may be of the greatest importance. According to this acof the Kings at Luxor lies the once important village of Quau-el-Kebir on the right side of the Nile. Here last winter members of the British school of archaeology were excavating among the rubbish heaps, and one day a broken earthenware jar was dug up. One of them saw a sand-colored rag in the jar, which proved to be a bag, and in the bag were inscribed papyrus leaves, Further examination showed that the her examination showed that the writing was in Coptic characters and scriptural. They were sent to England to Sir Flinders Petrie, the director of the school of Archaeology in Egypt. Soon seeing the word "Lazarus" and other Biblical words, he knew that the manuscript was one of the gospels and not merely an old Coptic sermon. It turned out to be the Gospel of John.

Each page is about 91/2 inches by 4½ inches. Sheets are missing from the beginning and end, and pages 11-12 and 33-34, but 86 pages contain count about 100 miles north of Tut- the continuous text of the Egyptian ankh-Amen's tomb in the Valley version. Experts conclude that the manuscript was probably writter about the beginning of the fifth century which would make it the oldest known copy of any Coptic Christian book. The text has not yet been all translated; so it is not yet known which Egyptian version this repre-sents. Before the end of the year, the British school of Archaeology hope to publish a translation of the text, illustrated with photographs of the actual words and forms used,

Oregon Has New System of Grading Students

A system of figuring scholastic

standing that is as fair to the student carrying a heavy course as to one carrying a light one has been worked out at the University of Oregon by Carlton E. Spencer, registrar and will be put into effect next term. No longer will the highest average in grades denote the "honor students," for under the new system the number of hours carried will have quite as much to do with the final standing, as will the grades themselves. Under the present plan, the student who makes 12 hours of the grade of th the grade of one and four hours of 11 receives a lower average grade than does one who carries but 12 hours and receives a grade of one. The more industrious student is actually penalized in standing for car-rying a heavier load. The new plan remedies the defect by awarding a certain number of points for each grade. The table is as follows:

Each hour of 1 will credit the stu dent with 5 points, each hour of 2 will credit the student with 4 points, each hour of 3 will credit the student with 3 points, each hour of 4 will credit the student with 2 points each hour of 5 will credit the student with 1 point. Heretofore, when some students have seen the possibility of the people of the state, so that you receiving a low grade in a subject may be entirely vindicated and supthey have dropped the course, thus keeping their general average up. Under the new system, subjects dropped or failed will not enter into consideration of the final result. Thus a student receiving 12 hours of

I will be awarded 60 points while another receiving 12 hours of 1 and four hours of a grade even so low as 5 will receive 64, which is rated as the higher statding. The incentive to pass every course and pass it with high grades will still remain it is pointed out by university officials. Students will then stay in subjects until the end of the term, for they will not better their average by dropping any hours. Thus the plan will actually rate the student by what

The new system is particularly aimed at those who quit courses before the end of the term. This practice is admittedly an evil in institutions of higher learning and it is expected that many colleges and universities will adopt a policy similar to the one to be introduced here. In proposing and putting into practice that in athletics the "quitter" is scorned while in the class rooms standings are made higher by an act. The movement is hailed here vanced in years and those advocating it believe it will become wide-

(Scottish Rite News Bureau) WASHINGTON, D. No one else saw the men except the officers at the police station, and they did not testify that the men arraigned were those had taken the foreigner from home to the police station.

At one point in the proceedings, Squire Stuhlmiller virtually closed the case by going to his cabinet and securing blanks necessary to hold the men for court, telling their attorney that "he had made up his mind already" and considered it un-necessary to listen further. One of the warrants, it has been reported, had been made out for Claude Hen-dershot, but when it was shown he had an alibi, and it was reported his name was scratched off the official warrant, and that of his brother George substituted.
